Seminar on the Europa series €20 banknote

Yesterday the Banco de España organised in Madrid a seminar on the Europa series €20 banknote, in which representatives from credit institutions, cash-in-transit companies, retailers and manufacturers and users of cash-handling machinery took part.

The ultimate aim of this seminar, as part of a broad information and collaboration campaign with cash professionals, is to ensure proper training and technological adaptation for when the €20 banknote is launched on 25 November this year. In this way it is sought to ensure that the new banknote will be accepted from its issue date by all machines, dispensers and devices throughout Spain. Hence, any rejection of the new banknotes or malfunctioning due to insufficient information or failure to adapt machinery beforehand will be averted. The Banco de España and all agents participating in the issue and circulation of the new banknote in Spain are working together on this project.
