The Financial Education Plan is renewing its finanzasparatodos.es website

The Financial Education Plan, sponsored by the National Securities Market Commission (CNMV) and the Banco de España, is renewing its website www.finanzasparatodos.es with the aim of improving the personal financial planning content made available to the public. These changes seek to consolidate the website as the benchmark financial education portal in Spain.

The new features relate mainly to design, content architecture and user experience, to make it more practical and interactive.

In addition to the educational and informative material and content, the new website includes new audiovisual formats, such as podcasts, interactive content and videos. This content will also be disseminated on social media, which have a growing number of users, especially young people.

The new website is divided into three sections:

- Discover: this section includes new content and interactive elements to help provide answers to questions such as how your financial health stands, how to prepare a budget or how to manage your debts.
- Participate: this section provides information on the initiatives, activities and projects promoted under the Financial Education Plan, such as the Schools Programme for educational centres and teachers, the Plan's Network of Partners and their initiatives, and the activities surrounding Financial Education Day, in addition to the "Finanzas para todos" (Finance for All) awards.
- Learn: this section contains a range of resources developed by the Plan to learn about finance, such as tools, podcasts, videos, manuals, glossaries, etc.

The website also has two private areas: one for the Plan partners, whose purpose is to act as an exchange and collaboration platform for the different institutions and to allow them to disseminate financial education activities and materials, and another for the teachers participating in the Schools Programme and the Financial Literacy Competition, with different tools and games to be used in the classroom.

Finanzasparatodos.es has profiles on Facebook, Instagram, Twitter and YouTube so you can keep up with the latest news.
