Note: Items 4, 6 and 7, and the balances comprising them, have had internal accounting movements and special transactions between group companies edited out. Items 4.2.1* and S.3*, i.e. interest on borrowed funds and ordinary net profit before the aforementioned adjustments, are those used to calculate the profit and cost of debt ratios (see Table 2.7).

(a) See disclosure and complementary information in table 2.26 and 2.28.

(b) "The output of distribution and real estate corporations is measured by the sales margin. This is why it is necessary to deduct, from turnover and from inputs, the portion relating to these activities due to the cost of merchandise sold. See the 1995 publication."

(c) See disclosure in table 2.2.

Note: Only the most significant items are published.

Note: Only the most significant items are published.

- Phenomenon non-existent or change meaningless when expressed as a rate of growth.

Note: The rates and balances of items 4.1.1, 4.1.2, 6.1.2 and 7.5 are shown without taking into account internal debits/credits to the accounts and special transactions among group companies. An offprint entitled Methodological supplement addresses the scope of the heading in this publication.

(a) The 2008 publication made a methodological change, for the entire time series, to enhance the calculation of Ordinary Net Profit (ONP): revenue from subsidies on capital transferred to period is recorded net of depreciation of the fixed assets financed (in previous editions, subsidies transferred to period were classed as extraordinary revenue).

(b) The Reversal Fund, envisaged in the 1990 general chart of accounts (PGC 1990), was eliminated from the new general chart of accounts (PGC 2007), resulting in a cut-off in the series as from base year 2008.

(c) A new feature in the new general chart of accounts is that certain financial assets and liabilities are valued at fair value.

- Phenomenon non-existent or change meaningless when expressed as a rate of growth.

Note: An offprint Methodological supplement addresses the scope of the headings in this publication.

(a) This heading includes, for the entire time series, tangible fixed assets subject to financial lease; under the previous general chart of accounts, these were recorded under intangible fixed assets.

(b) This heading, one of the new features introduced in the new general chart of accounts, includes investment in land and buildings.

(c) This heading, which is also a new feature introduced in the new general chart of accounts, includes various types of assets: intangible and tangible fixed assets and financial assets.

(d) Under PGC 2007, base year 2008 and the following years include investments with maturity of less than 3 months and other short-term instruments, giving rise to a jump in the time series.

Note: An offprint Methodological supplement addresses the scope of the headings in this publication.

(a) For bases prior to 2008, this heading basically reflects value adjustments for tangible fixed assets; the value adjustments in base year 2008 and the following years, which reflect accounting data prepared under the new general chart of accounts, are fundamentally due to changes in the valuation of financial instruments.

(b) This heading covers equity instruments, shares and holdings which, due to their special characteristics, should be classed as liabilities.

(c) Liabilities connected with non-current assets held for sale (see heading II.1 in Table 2.3).

- Phenomenon non-existent or change meaningless when expressed as a rate of growth.

TABLE 2.6.1

(a) Book value adjusted for inflation by means of price indexes according to the kind of fixed assets. The «Methodological note» reports the estimation made.

TABLE 2.7

(a) Original concept, not adjusted of the transactions referred by the note of table 2.1.1. See «Methodological note».

(b) Estimated ratios for the whole sample and significant sectoral aggregates. See the conceptual scope in the «Methodological note» (tables 2.13 to 2.17). For sectoral aggregates included in the CBSO CD-ROM, ratios are calculated from book values only.

(c) This ratio is calculated with the aim of providing the link between R.1 to R.3 ratios, obtained from average balance-sheet figures. The definition is different from that of E.1 ratio in table 2.6 and 2.18, which provides for the analysis of indebtedness.

TABLE 2.13

Note: Before taxes. See on table 2.7 the definition, including as a development, the concept of ordinary net profit and the valuation of tangible fixed assets at current prices, and its compensation for equity.

TABLE 2.14

Note: this table provides information on the two determinants of the return on investment (R.1), namely the margin, which is calculated as the ratio between the numerator of the R.1 ratio and output, and turnover, which is defined as the ratio between output and net assets. The return on investment (R.1) is equal to the product of the margin and the turnover.
