1 Introduction

This Memorandum describes the research activities conducted at the Banco de España in 2006. The main goals of these research activities are to help define the institutional position of the Banco de España in economic matters by providing high-quality economic analysis and to foster economic research in those fields related to functions entrusted to the Banco de España.

These activities are conducted in parallel with the regular monitoring of the Spanish, euro area and international economies, the assessment of relevant economic policies, financial regulation and supervision, and the compilation of statistics. Set forth below are the main avenues of research in 2006 (Section 2), relations with the academic community and services provided to other researchers (Section 3) and the scientific findings in 2006 (Section 4).

2 Priority areas of analysis

The priority areas of research in 2006 were as follows: i) households' financial decisions and the housing market; ii) the determinants of productivity in the euro area; iii) the macroeconomic implications of external deficits in a monetary union; iv) the strengthening of the instruments for the modelling of and forecasts for the Spanish economy; v) economic changes in emerging countries; and vi) regulation, banking competition and financial stability. This classification includes the research agendas of five Directorates General of the Banco de España (Economics, Statistics and Research; Banking Regulation; Operations, Markets and Payment Systems; Banking Supervision; and the Associate Directorate General of International Affairs).

This year the priority areas of analysis of the Directorate General Economics, Statistics and Research were as follows: i) the housing market; ii) households' financial decisions; iii) the determinants of productivity in the euro area; and iv) the macroeconomic consequences of external deficits in the monetary union. There was also further work on the econometric modelling of the Spanish economy and of the euro area. Notable in this respect is the updating of the main forecasting model for the Spanish economy (MTBE), the construction of a stochastic dynamic general equilibrium model of the Spanish economy (BEMOD) and the development of new techniques for forecasting short-term economic activity in the euro area as a whole. As regards methodological work on the treatment of time series, there was progress on the inclusion of spectral analysis techniques in the identification and diagnosis of series and in the fine-tuning of the quality control programme (TERROR). Finally, the avenues of research into the competitiveness and growth potential of the Spanish economy were further pursued, analysing productivity from different (aggregate and corporate) perspectives and methodologies (use of microdata, time series analysis, etc.), furthering the study of the basic structural features of the economy, such as its productive structure and the labour market, and analysing the functioning of economic policies.

The Department of International Economics and International Relations, of the Associate Directorate General of International Affairs, geared its research to matters of economic significance for Spain in its capacity as an increasingly active participant in the global economy. During the year the research agenda focused on three main avenues: the global economy, emerging economies and international financial architecture. Regarding the emerging economies, the main focal points were Latin America and Asia, in particular China. In the first group, matters such as fiscal behaviour and the impact of the exchange rate on the real economy were analysed, while in the second group financial, banking and financial stability issues were addressed. This area also saw the opening of an avenue of research on remittances. In terms of global issues, there were contributions to the financial consequences of the rise in oil prices and trade matters, in particular those relating to institutional arrangements and those linked to growth. Finally, greater scope was given to the study of matters of importance for the international financial architecture, from both the theoretical and empirical standpoint.

The Financial Stability Department, of the Directorate General of Banking Regulation, pursued several research projects relating to financial stability and other banking matters. The main projects here focused on i) the analysis of procyclicality under Basel II, ii) the development of an efficient tool for the stress testing of deposit institutions and iii) the study, inter alia, of the relationship between banking competition and financial stability, banks' behaviour in the face of signs of corporate fragility and credit market developments.

Finally, the Directorate General of Operations, Markets and Payment Systems and the Directorate General of Banking Supervision also opened avenues of applied research addressing central bank finances and market microstructure and regulation.

3 Relations with academia

To forge closer links with the academic community and with economic analysis and research units in other central banks and international institutions, the Banco de España uses six channels.

First, analysis and research papers are submitted and discussed in national and international academic seminars, meetings and conferences, and, moreover, they are published through the usual outlets.

Second, it organises seminars in which members of the national and international academic community participate, and arranges national and international conferences, occasionally in collaboration with other institutions.

Third, the Banco de España participates in research networks organised within the Eurosystem for the analysis of the euro area economy. These include, for example, the Wage Dynamics Network, created in 2006, and the CEMLA researchers' network, which draws on the Latin American countries.

Fourth, it regularly publishes the findings of research activities in its own series, especially the Documentos de Trabajo (Working Papers) and Documentos Ocasionales (Ocasional Papers) series. The former comprises papers that have been anonymously refereed. In addition, the monthly Boletín Económico (and a quarterly Economic Bulletin in English) and the half-yearly Estabilidad Financiera, created in 2001, publish research papers or brief abstracts of research output from the Banco de España.

Fifth, in-house training courses regularly present advances in the development of statistical and econometric tools, in the compilation of statistics, in financial regulation, etc.

Finally, there are regular external visitors' and fellows' programmes which boost those projects that may be considered strategic in various areas of analysis and research.

For the sake of brevity, only some of the services provided to the research community in the economics field and, in a separate section, the seminars and academic conferences organised by the Bank are detailed below.

3.1 SERVICES PROVIDED TO THE RESEARCH COMMUNITY

In addition to interaction with the research community through the habitual channels (publications, seminars, conferences, etc.), the Banco de España provides other services and products of value for research, including most notably: i) statistics; ii) statistical and econometric software, and iii) training courses.

3.1.1 Statistics

a. Main regular statistical products

The Banco de España regularly produces series of statistics, the most important of these being: i) the financial accounts of the Spanish economy; ii) monetary and financial statistics; iii) balance of payments and international investment position statistics, and iv) statistics from the Central Balance Sheet Data Office. All, except the latter, are included in the Spanish National Statistics Plan.

The Financial Accounts of the Spanish Economy (FASE) are prepared following the guidelines of the European System of Accounts (ESA 95). They include detailed information on financial instruments, classified in the accounts of resident institutional sectors and sub-sectors, and in the rest of the world account. For each of these institutional groupings, balance sheet and transaction accounts are produced, in addition to less detailed revaluation and other changes in financial assets accounts. The homogeneous series of FASE starts in 1980 (for the annual series) and 1990 (for the quarterly series). The accounts are published on the website <http://www.bde.es/estadis/ccffe/cfcap2e.htm> with a lag of 120 days.

The production of monetary and financial statistics acquired a new dimension from 1998 further to the establishment of the European Economic and Monetary Union (EMU). Under the new arrangements for the production of euro area harmonised statistics, new monthly series on interest rates applied by credit institutions to their customers and a quarterly survey on the bank credit market began to be disseminated in 2003. Monthly series of credit institutions' balance sheet data drawn from supervisory returns are available from 1962, and monthly series of the balance sheet of the Monetary Financial Institutions sector from 1980. These statistics can be found at www.bde.es/infoest/boleste.htm.

The Balance of Payments and International Investment Position statistics include other statistics likewise compiled by the Banco de España, namely international reserves and foreign currency liquidity, and external debt. They also incorporate the foreign trade statistics prepared by the State Tax Revenue Service. The Balance of Payments and International Investment Position statistics follow the methodological guidelines of the IMF Balance of Payments Manual (Fifth Edition, 1993) and their conceptual framework is very similar to that of the National Accounts rest of the world accounts (including the accounts of financial transactions, financial stocks, revaluations and other changes in volume for this sector included in the FASE). These statistics can be found at www.bde.es/bpagos/bpagose.htm.

Since the early 1980s, the Central Balance Sheet Data Office (CBSO) has provided data on the financial and net worth position and on the performance of non-financial corporations resident in Spain, based on the information available from their accounting records. The CBSO maintains an annual database (CBA), which draws on the collaboration by more than 8,000 enterprises that complete a highly detailed questionnaire, and a quarterly database (CBQ) which draws on a substantially shorter questionnaire completed by over 800 large corporations. The CBSO has another database in which over 400,000 companies are included and which is based on the mandatory accounts filed by Spanish companies with the Mercantile Registers of Spain. The full coverage of the three CBSO databases is close to 50% of the gross value added of the non-financial corporations sector. The annual and quarterly results can be found at www.bde.es/cenbal/cenbale.htm.

b. Survey of Household Finances

The Spanish Survey of Household Finances (EFF) is a new survey conducted by the Banco de España that is included in the National Statistics Plan. The main aim of the EFF is to obtain detailed information on Spanish households' wealth and financial decisions. The EFF is the only statistical source in Spain that allows the incomes, assets, debt and consumption of each household unit to be linked. It was launched in 2001, and the results for the first wave, for 2002, were released at the end of 2005 on the website <http://www.bde.es/estadis/eff/effe.htm>. Data for the second wave, for 2005, are currently being collected.

3.1.2 Statistical and econometric software

Several tools for the statistical analysis of time series are made freely available to users. These are new versions of the programs TRAMO (Time series Regression with ARIMA noise, Missing values and Outliers) and SEATS (Signal Extraction in ARIMA Time Series), the program TER-ROR (TRAMO for Errors), and the program TSW, a Windows version of TRAMO-SEATS with some modifications and additions, developed by G. Caporello and A. Maravall at the Banco de España.

The programs are essentially aimed at monthly or lower frequency time series. Although structured to meet the needs of an expert analyst, they can be reliably used in an entirely automatic manner on very large sets of time series. The main applications are forecasting, seasonal adjustment, trend-cycle estimation, construction of leading indicators, interpolation, detection and correction of outliers, estimation of special effects and data quality control.

3.1.3 Training courses

On Time Series Analysis, TRAMO, SEATS and TSW

- CEMFI, Madrid (February).
- Escuela de Economía, Colegio de Economistas, Madrid (March).
- INE, Madrid (March).
- Central banks of Latin-American countries, Consejo Monetario Centro Americano (participants from 7 countries) and Banco de España (12 participants), at the Banco de España Training Centre, Madrid (May).
- International Symposium on Forecasting, Santander (participants from 7 countries) (June).
- EUROSTAT, Luxembourg (participants from 15 countries) (July).
- Turkish National Statistics Institute and Central Bank, Ankara (September).
- Instituto Gallego de Estadística, Santiago de Compostela (November).
- IDSC Center, Prime Minister's Office, Cairo (participants from 7 countries) (December).

4 Dissemination and communication

4.1 ECONOMIC RESEARCH SEMINARS

In 2006 a total of 22 external seminars in which papers were presented by research economists from the Spanish and international academic community. These seminars are listed below:

1. 1 March. Héctor Sala (Universitat Autónoma de Barcelona): The Relevance of Post-Match LTC: Why Has the Spanish Labor Market Become as Volatile as the US One?
2. 8 March. Javier Suárez (CEMFI): Hot and cold housing markets: International evidence.

3. 23 March. Vicente Cuñat (Universitat Pompeu Fabra): Financing Constraints and Fixed-Term Employment Contracts. (Jointly submitted with Andrea Caggese.)
4. 5 April. Luis Puch (UCM and FEDEA): Cost of Business Cycles with Non-clearing Markets. (Jointly submitted with Frank Portier.)
5. 10 May. Christian Volpe (IDB): Trade Policy and Sectoral Manufacturing Specialization.
6. 16 May. Chrysostomos Tabakis (Universidade Nova de Lisboa): Customs Unions and Managed Trade.
7. 24 May. D. Aigner (University of California): Corporate Social Responsibility and the Bottom Line.
8. 29 May. Liliana Rojas (Center for Global Development): The Burden of Debt: An Exploration of Interest Rate Behavior in Latin America.
9. 6 June. Jerry Dwyer (Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta): How important are capital and total factor productivity for economic growth?
10. 14 June. Nacho García Pérez (CENTRA): The use of permanent contracts across Spanish regions: Do regional wage subsidies work? (Jointly submitted with Yolanda Rebollo.)
11. 6 September. Noaman Rebei (Bank of Canada): An Estimated Business Cycle Model With Stage-Specific Technological Change. [Jointly submitted with Louis Phaneuf (UQuAM, Montreal).]
12. 20 September. Larry Wall (Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta): Debt, Hedging and Human Capital. (Jointly submitted with Stephen D. Smith.)
13. 28 September. Marco Francesconi (University of Essex): Hours Changes and Labour Supply.
14. 18 October. Thijs van Rens (Universitat Pompeu Fabra): Heterogeneous Life-Cycle Profiles, Income Risk and Consumption Inequality.
15. 27 October. Sebastián Edwards (UCLA): Capital controls, external imbalances, sudden stops and contagion.
16. 6 November. Alessandra Guariglia (Univ. Nottingham): Could Financial Distortions be no Impediment to Economic Growth After All? Evidence from China.
17. 8 November. Antti Ripatti (Bank of Finland): Bank of Finland's experiences in using DGE model for forecasting and policy analysis. Demographic Uncertainty and Labour Market Imperfections in a Small Open Economy; Learning to Forecast with a DGE Model.
18. 15 November. Andrew Bernard (Tuck School of Business, Dartmouth): Transfer Pricing by U.S.-Based Multinational Firms.

19. 24 November. Massimiliano Marcellino (IGIER, Univ. Bocconi): A Benchmark for Forecasting Models of Growth and Inflation.
  20. 29 November. Francis Kramarz (INSEE): The Returns to Seniority in France (and Why Are they Lower than in the United States).
  21. 15 December. Antonio Zabalza (Universidad de Valencia): La Financiación Autonómica en el Estatuto de Cataluña (Regional Financing in the Statute of Catalonia).
  22. 21 December. David López-Salido (Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System): Strategic Complementarities and Optimal Monetary Policy.
- 4.2 CONFERENCES ORGANISED
1. European Summer Symposium In International Macroeconomics (ESSIM) 2006, 24-28 May 2006, Roda de Bará (Tarragona).
  2. Conference on "Los Bancos Centrales en el Siglo XXI" (Central Banks in the 21st Century), 8-9 June 2006, Madrid.
  3. Conference on "Financial Integration and Stability in Europe", 30 November-1 December 2006, Madrid.
- 4.3 FORTHCOMING
1. "Household Finances and Housing Wealth", Madrid, 24-25 April 2007.
  2. Fourth CEPR Applied Industrial Organization School and Eighth CEPR Conference on Applied Industrial Organization, Roda de Bará, 23-28 May 2007.

5 Publications

The findings of the research activities by Banco de España staff are disseminated both as working or occasional papers of the Banco de España and as journal papers or book chapters within the usual channels of the profession. Table 1 is a summary of the number of articles and other works published in 2005 and 2006 and of those accepted for publication in each year. They are listed below in the following categories:

1. Publications in refereed journals.
  2. Publications in non-refereed journals, books and book chapters.
